Blue Key Plans Easter Sunrise Rites in Quad

"Why Easter?" will be the topic of the sermon to be offered at the annual Blue Key sunrise services Sunday in the Inner Quad of the college, according to Bob Custer, duke of the honorary-service fraternity.

Faculty Group Forms Plans For Council

The Inter-committee on the formation of a faculty council met yesterday and formed sub-groups for the purpose of organizing the plans for the creation of the proposed faculty council.

Dr. Dudley Moorhead, chairman of the committee, said that the sub-groups will give reports to the committee at the next meeting, Monday at 3:30 p.m. in Room 20.

At next week's meeting, Dr. Moorhead said that the committee also will decide the date on which the entire faculty will be requested to vote on whether it wishes to have an elected faculty council. Three faculty organizations already have approved the committee's tentative council plans.

He said that one sub-committee report will deal with the eligibility requirements of faculty members in voting on the council idea.

APOs Plan To Hide 300 Eggs for Hunt

About 300 eggs will be hidden in Spartan stadium by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, Sunday in preparation for an Easter egg hunt being given for children of students, faculty members and employees of the college.

The hunt will be held from 12:30 until 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon and is open to children 12 years of age or younger, Ted McCarty, A Phi O publicity chairman, announced this week.

Prizes for the most eggs found, least eggs found, and special eggs found will be awarded, McCarty said.

Today's Weather

"Thunder and lightning!" exclaimed Cuthbert S., gazing lympthically at the sky.

"Painstaker's rain gets folks wetter than any rain, any rain, any rain. And it's milder too, and so kind to your hands, that even doctors use it."

Yes, it will be cloudy today, and it just possibly might rain.

the National AAU boxing tournament at Boston in time to present the talk, Custer said.

The program, which will be conducted entirely by persons associated with the college, will begin at 6:15 a.m., Tom Evans, program chairman, revealed today.

Students and townspeople will gather in front of the tower as Helen Kimzey plays selections on the tower chimes, Evans said.

The Rev. James Martin, executive secretary of the Student Y, will present the invocation. The opening hymn will be "Holy, Holy, Holy."

Passages from the Scriptures will be read by Lud Spolyar, ASB president and Blue Key knight. Doris Lee Raymond, graduate of the Danforth foundation, will lead the group in the "Lord's Prayer," Evans said.

Bryon Rose, former president of the College Religious council and newly appointed student representative to the Chapel committee, will give the benediction. The program will conclude with the playing of the recording, "Hallelujah Chorus."

"In sponsoring the non-sectarian program," Evans said, "the Blue Key is continuing a tradition begun by its predecessors, Spartan Knights." The program was not held last year due to spring vacation, he explained.

March Athlete Will Be Named

Athlete of the Month for March was voted on yesterday in the meeting of the Associated Men Students council. The award will be given tomorrow at the ASB dance.

The council amended the AMS constitution to lengthen the term of office to a full year. At present, officers are elected for one-half the school year.

Another constitutional amendment added the class presidents to the AMS steering committee. In case the president is a woman student, the vice-president or next-elected male officer will represent the class. If all officers are women, the president may appoint a member of the class council to the post.

Board Names Joe West as Dean of J.C.

Joe H. West, dean of students at the college was appointed dean of the junior college for the spring quarter at last night's meeting of the San Jose Board of Education.

The appointment does not in any way change the present administrative set-up for the junior college which is operated by state college personnel.

However, the separation of the junior college and state college facilities, which has been ordered by the State Board of Education, is planned to take place in the near future.

Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie, president of the state college, will continue to act as principal of the junior college during the temporary administrative set-up.

Immunization Card Deadline Is Today

Today is the final day for purchasing immunization cards for smallpox, tetanus and typhoid-paratyphoid shots, according to Miss Margaret Twombly, director of the Student Health service.

Miss Twombly again stressed the importance of purchasing immunization cards now even though shots will not be administered until next week.

The early deadline is necessary to insure purchase of exact amounts of material needed and to permit hiring extra help to administer shots, she said.

Price of immunization is $1 for both initial series and "booster" shots and cards may be purchased in the Graduate Manager's office, Room 16.

Play Tryouts

Tryouts for six student-directed one-act plays will be held next Monday and Tuesday at 4 p.m. in Room 53, Miss Elizabeth Loeffler, assistant professor of speech and director of the plays, announced yesterday.

These tryouts are open to all students in the college, and drama and speech majors who do not have major roles in the current Little Theater productions.

The plays will be presented May 19-23 in the Studio theater. Scripts of the plays will be on reserve in the Speech office.

'Cotton Pickers' Prance at Dance

By JOYCE PASSETTI

Saturday night may mean "movie time" to some people, but for Spartans it's going to mean "Cotton Picking Time."

"Cotton Picking Time" is the theme for the final all-school dance of the year which will be held tomorrow at the Civic auditorium from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Willis Resigns From Faculty For New Job

Dr. Edgar E. Willis resigned his position as professor of speech this week to accept a position at the University of Michigan as associate professor of speech.

"My field is radio and television, and I feel that the University of Michigan offers greater opportunities for me in these fields," Dr. Willis said.

Dr. Willis will be in charge of the university's graduate radio and television division.

"I have enjoyed my experience at San Jose State college and I shall always be interested in the development of the school and its students, especially the radio-speech majors that I have counseled," Dr. Willis remarked.

During his six years on the faculty he served as adviser to the Radio Guild and taught classes in public speaking and oral reading, besides being the only radio-speech instructor.

He said that when he joined the faculty there was only one radio class offered. Now the department offers classes in radio techniques, radio writing, broadcasting, radio acting and two student radio programs, Spartan Review and Dramatime.

Dr. Willis received the majority of his radio experience while working as producer and writer for the Radio department of the Detroit public schools. He is a graduate of Wayne university in Detroit and received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Wisconsin.

His textbook, "Foundations in Broadcasting," was published last year by the Oxford University Press.

SJS To Train State Officers

"Because California state officers feel that San Jose has a 'more flexible and adaptive program than other colleges and universities, we probably will add a new course of study next fall, designed for California state rehabilitation officers, according to Dr. C. W. Telford, head of the Psychology department.

Instigated by the Occupational Therapy department, which is under the direction of Miss Mary Booth, the course will feature study in the Psychology, Occupational Therapy, Social Science, and Business departments.

"The rehabilitation officers are already on the job but there is a move to set up a cooperative program at an institution to give these men an additional year of graduate training," said Dr. Telford.

"It is possible that the program will be subsidized by the Federal Mental hygiene program. As far as we know we will have the first program of this kind in the United States," said Dr. Telford.

Social Affairs committee, with Cliff Lindsey as chairman, has worked long and hard to make this the best dance of the year.

"We want to see everybody there," Lindsey says.

Highlights of the evening will be the presentation of the Athlete of the Month award for March and the awarding of jackets to members of the boxing team.

According to the decision of the committee at Wednesday's meeting, AMS president Marv Scarper will present the Athlete of the Month award during one of the intermissions. Candidates have been chosen from members of the baseball, boxing, and track teams. Jackets will be presented to Coach Dee Portal and team members Al Accurso, Chuck Adkins, Don Camp, Darrell Dukes, Vic Harris, Stan Marcell, Bill Mendosa, Ernie Paramo, Paul Reuter and Jerry Stern.

Dick Dildine and his orchestra will provide the music at the college dance. The 12-piece orchestra plays steadily at the Alameda Naval Air Station Officer's club. In addition to dance music, they have several routines, Lindsey added.

Intermission entertainment will include songs and acts from the Revelries. "Additional entertainment still is being enlisted," Lindsey said.

Decorations will consist of cotton sprays donated by downtown stores.

For the many students who seem confused as to the appropriate dress for the affair, Lindsey assures them to, "wear regular cotton campus clothes." Cotton dresses or skirts for the girls; sport shirts and slacks for the boys.

The dance is open to all students. Admission is one ASB card per couple or per person.

Bouquets To All

Today we'd like to toss out a few bouquets. The plaudits are aimed in the direction of both students and faculty.

During the past week students were stirred out of their customary lethargy when the proposal to change San Jose State's name to California State was boosted in Spartan Daily columns.

Some Spartans have reacted to the idea with enthusiasm; others have met it with flaming opposition.

The point we want to emphasize is that they have reacted. They have been thinking.

Such show of student interest is, we believe, worthy of commendation. It is indicative of an attitude essential in any democracy—an attitude of responsibility for the conduct of current public affairs.

Faculty organizations too deserve praise this week. They have gone on record in favor of a change which we feel is real progress.

Three groups, American Association of University Professors, California State Employees association and Association of California State College Instructors have registered their approval for the formation of a faculty council which would promote mutual understanding between faculty and administration. Plans now are underway to submit the idea to the vote of the entire faculty.

We said before and will say again: "Co-operation between allied forces is the keynote to success in any undertaking. The council formation plan would, we believe, facilitate co-operation in this institution."

Congratulations, students and faculty!

A.B.

Thrust and Parry

Dear Thrust and Parry:

Lethargy has gripped the campus! Students of San Jose State are content to sit back on their heels and accept the name which this college has had for years. The proposal to change its title to California State should be shouted through the halls and to the rafters of the old tower.

We must be recognized! We must change our name because Socrates would have been less famous and erudite if his name had been Jones. We must pour our energies into building a name for a college instead of building a college for a name. It is the shell that counts, whether or not it is hollow.

We need prestige. The name California State would give us that. Employees will be attracted from every state in the nation. Jobs will flow like wine. And on the gridiron Stanford and California will tremble at the thought of having to battle old C.S. The potential is there — the prestige hangs. What a thrill it would be for a Stanfordite to come up to you and touch and meekly ask, "Are you a C.S. student?"

ASB

Dear Thrust and Parry:

I recently read Thrust and Parry and was extremely disgusted with the conservative attitude of ASB card holder 450.

I feel that in changing the name of San Jose State to California State college we would be taking a big step toward the betterment of our school. I also feel that it will not only add to the college's prestige but to its enrollment as well.

Because of the fact that there are other state colleges in California, many people may object to the adoption of the new name. However, since San Jose State is not only the biggest but the best state college in California, I feel that we are entitled to the name of California State.

I think that every student should get behind this idea, and by doing so, help to put San Jose State, under its new name of California State college, on the map.

Beer, Ale and Wife Beating Highlight Old World Easter

By KEN ROED

Historical writings of old-time European Easter customs brings the observation that the high sense of propriety commonly deemed synonymous with olden day actions, was not overly emphasized at Easter time. In other words, the folks were a bit wild!

Many of the customs undoubtedly would be unique to present-day persons, and would bring adverse reactions to the strict observers of the ecclesiastical holiday.

One writer states that "In early England, Easter-time brought various sporting activities," which this observer would not necessarily condone.

One of the customs was called "heaving." "The women's heaving day was most amusing," the writer comments. "Many a time I have passed along the streets and seen parties of jolly matrons assembled around tables on which stood foaming tankards of ale. There they sat in all the pride of absolute sovereignty and woe to the luckless man that dared to invade their prerogatives!" (My how women have changed!)

"As soon as he was seen he was pursued; (horrors), as soon as he was pursued he was taken, and as soon as he was taken he was heaved and kissed and compelled to pay sixpence for 'leave and license' to depart." What a ghastly way to spend Easter!

In case you are wondering, "heaving" was the process of throwing the male up into the air again and again.

Another custom had a slow beginning, but a fast conclusion. "The young men would seize the shoes of the females, collecting as many as they could," the writer states. "On the following day, the girls would retaliate by getting the men's hats." (They weren't so dumb.) "To redeem the articles, both parties had to assemble on a subsequent evening at one of the inns and partake of a rural repast." Sounds good.

The married folks did not go without their celebrations at Easter time, either. One writing states, "In Germany, the parents, after hiding the colored eggs and putting the 'kinderhins' to bed, would celebrate by going around the corner to a beer-saloon to enjoy the music and drink beer."

Not all, however, was jolly for the parents at Easter time. The custom called for the husband to beat the wife one day and vise versa on another, in punishment for their wrong deeds during the year.

Easter bonnets and other hat-like headwear this spring seem to lean to the small, clamp-on, almost-a-cloche not-quite-a-head-band variety.

Our models, let loose in the various hat departments and hat stores downtown, all chose the same thing, a variation on something which resembles a flying saucer that has found a landing place. Neat giddiness was the effect looked for.

Carol Garvey appears on the left in her fashion favorite. The dizzy darling above is a white sailor from the Mademoiselle shop. It has a jaunty green ribbon that parades off the back.

In the next photograph is Mary

Ann Weisbrod, spritely as spring itself in her nomination from Hart's millinery department. A cabbage rose atop pale pink straw and an off-the-face veil filled her style-wise plans.

In the third photo is Joan Bayerle, whose big blue eyes gleamed appreciatively when they lighted upon this striped sensation. And, 'though it's not regulation Easter style, you'll need some headgear at the beach, so we suggest her scintillating sunshade.

Red-headed Joan Riley lifted her forget-me-notted frivolity from a sales-woman's hand at Doty Dunn's.

Other creations sighted at the various shops were a pink "Watteau" brimmed sugar scoop trimmed in pink daisies, and many cloches sprinkled with tiny blossoms.

"Cheer up, friend," said the parson to the dying editor. "You have a bright future ahead of you." "That's what bothers me," gasped the editor. "I can see it blazing."

'Glad Rags' Lead Easter Parade

By JO ROSSMANN

A rag, a bone and a hank of hair is what a woman becomes after she passes the sugar and spice stage. Between that mop of hair and the visible bones is the rag which comes into its own on Easter Sunday.

The rag this year will be fashioned in styles ranging from the princess line feminine look to the prim Peter Pan appearance.

Skirts are at the length most comfortable for you and suit jackets cling or fall loose depending on your preference. The difference and the choice this season lies in a variety of fabrics and hues.

As traditional as the white lilies on the altar is the navy suit. The starkness of the suit is broken by "little boy" white pique collars or bright splashes of pink, lime or aqua.

Many a corsage will peer from the shoulders of printed rayons and silks topped by contrasting shantung dusters. Colors will range from sunset orange to marshmallow white.

Biggest news is in fabrics this season. Silk organza, in rainbow hues with spider-like gold threads weaving delicate patterns and pontung, a washable, wrinkle-proof material replacing shantung, are new entries on the fashion scene.

Linen and organdy will hold their own again this year. Both butcher linen and Irish linen will be used for suits, afternoon dresses and crisp blouses.

Scarves Make Fashion News

Multicolored scarves have been graduated from covering Saturday morning pin curls this season to covering the necessities carried in a woman's handbag.

Wire frames resembling inverted bird cages, plus a scarf tucked inside to mix or match, and, presto, an Easter bag. Clever trick about it is that the scarf can be changed to black velvet for evening wear or to terry cloth for the beach. The makings are available at local department stores.

Scarves are still at the top of the list when it comes to neckwear news. Ribbon, accordion pleated or square scarves are a focal point on any plain sweater or suit. Add a dazzle of scatter pins or twisted pearls and your outfit is complete.

Try knotting two contrasting scarves together to dress up the wasteline of that plain black dress, or sweep your hair back from your face and fasten it with a plaid scarf for that feminine look that's so popular this season.

the accessory field. The petticoats worn by grandma will peek out from under full skirts to give color to spring outfits.

Handbags are small or large, depending on your height. Most popular again this year are wicker carry-alls, close kins to little brother's fishing basket or the family picnic hamper.

Choose your favorite color and style, add shortie gloves in white or shades to mix and match, plus a glimpse of your favorite earrings beneath a hat as wickedly gay as the season itself, and a tantalizing dab of perfume, and you will be guaranteed to get more than a passing glance in the Easter parade.

'Horsemeat' Frats Fear College Girls' Reactions

TUCSON, ARIZ., Apr. 10.—(UP)—Two University of Arizona fraternities which are balancing their budgets by serving horsemeat dinners have expressed fears that the news would "run us with the girls."

The presidents of the two fraternities admitted that horsemeat was being served to members at "several meals" each week, but asked reporters not to print the names of the organizations because campus coeds might not care for the idea.

Just to make sure that girls who come to dinners will dig in without hesitation, the fraternity presidents said, ham is served when ladies are present.

About 20 fraternities were questioned by newsmen about their meals after Arden McFadden, state livestock sanitary board inspector, reported seeing fraternity house managers buying horsemeat in a store.

He emphasized that the meat was fresh and inspected, but said he wondered if students knew what they were eating.

Only two of the fraternities said horsemeat was being used, and added that it was an economy, approved by a vote of members. They pointed out that horsemeat may be purchased for about one-fourth the cost of beef in Tucson.

"We always let the members know about a week in advance of a particular meal when horsemeat will be served, so they can make other plans if they want to," one brother said.

"However," he added, "there has been no noticeable drop in attendance at such meals."

"Some of the men like horsemeat just as much as regular beef," one fraternity man said. "And it's a good way to save money."

Short Men Lead In Longevity Race

LOS ANGELES, Apr. 10.—(UP)—Short men may not have the sex appeal of their tall, dark and handsome brothers, but they have a better chance of living to a ripe old age, an expert in that sort of thing said today.

Dr. William H. Sheldon told a physical education convention that studies of body types indicate tall men do not live as long on an average as short men.

Plane Lays Eggs; Replaces Bunny

WOODLAND, Calif., Apr. 10.—(UP)—The airplane is replacing the Easter bunny here when it comes to scattering 5000 candy eggs for the annual hunt.

A plane will roar over the grassy Yolo county fair ground Saturday and drop the eggs.

Leonard Payne, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, sponsoring the egg hunt, said no attempt is being made to put the Easter bunny out of business—it's simply a matter of getting the job done more quickly.

Stevenson Is Illinois Choice

CHICAGO, Apr. 10.—(UP)—Illinois' 60 Democratic convention delegates probably would support Gov. Adlai Stevenson if he chose to seek the Democratic nomination, political observers said today.

The Illinois governor, rumored to be President Truman's choice for the party's nomination, ran second to Senator Estes Kefauver in Tuesday's Illinois election. Stevenson's votes were write-ins. Kefauver was alone on the ballot.

But the observers said that although the 50 Democratic delegates elected are not pledged to any candidate, they all were organization Democrats who undoubtedly would support Stevenson.

Ten other delegates are to be selected at state conventions. They also will be organization men, the observers said.

Stevenson did not campaign. He said repeatedly that he wanted only another term as governor and he was nominated to that post without opposition.

Before the primary, Kefauver said that a better test of strength between him and Stevenson would be made in the Oregon primary.

Both men appear on the ballot there and most observers felt that a better test of Stevenson's appeal could be had outside his home state.

Army To Release Area Guard Units

SAN FRANCISCO, Apr. 10.—(UP)—Army officials have announced here that several Bay area national guard units will be released from active duty and returned to state control this summer.

Among those involved are: The 250th anti-aircraft artillery group and the 184th AAA operations detachment, both of San Francisco, and the 719th AAA gun battalion of Alameda. The 250th is now serving in the Bay area and the 719th is at Fort Lewis.

The 184th AAA detachment, now in Germany, is due home early in August.

President Refuses Convention Draft

WASHINGTON, Apr. 10.—(UP)—President Truman said flatly today that he will not accept a draft for renomination, nor does he intend, at present, to attend the Democratic convention in July.

He promised to campaign in behalf of the Democratic nominee—whoever he may be—to the extent of his ability and to the extent desired by the Democratic National committee.

The President, responding to reporters who sought additional background on his decision to forego a re-election campaign, said he decided not to run again simply because he did not want to. He said he made up his mind not to run again more than a year ago.

Official Predicts Ike's Resignation

CHICAGO, Apr. 10.—(UP)—A high official in the North Atlantic Treaty organization said today he believed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's resignation as supreme commander will not be announced until the next meeting of the permanent NATO council Apr. 21.

(In Washington today, President Truman told a press conference that he will make the announcement whenever Eisenhower is ready to have it made. The President said the timing of it is up to Eisenhower.)

Oldham Takes Hill Against Marines

Friday, Apr. 11, 1952

6 SPARTAN DAILY

The Spartan baseball team tangles with the San Diego Marines at 3:15 p.m. today in Municipal stadium after having their scheduled contest with San Diego State yesterday cancelled because of wet grounds.

Lefty Johnny Oldham probably will start against the Marines. Oldham will be in quest of his second win of the season.

Professional ball players dominate the San Diego service team with several men from big college nines across the nation on the squad.

Coach Walt Williams will start Bob Poole at catcher with his other receiver, hard-hitting Harvey Del Buono, in right field. Ed Hallberg will see action at first base and Ron Palma will be on second.

Cookie Camara is set for short-stop while Bill Pitcher handles third base for the Spartans. Andy Miller will be in left field and Joe Bonfiglio will be in center.

Pitching for the Marines will be Mike Werback. The catcher will be Earl Finley.

They will have Bob Skinner on first, Howie Padgett on second and Lee Rosa on third. Their left fielder will be Bill Fischer, and George Smith and Jim Ransom will patrol center and right field, respectively.

The Spartans meet San Francisco State in a twin bill there starting at 12:30 p.m. tomorrow.

PRESS BOX CHATTER

By WALT ROESSING

Two former Spartan boxers achieved national recognition this week when they won championships in the National Amateur Athletic Union tournament in Boston.

Mac Martinez won the coveted 125 lb. national crown while Jack Scheberies, a dark horse entrant, emerged as the heavyweight titlist.

These two championships for former Spartan boxers are traceable directly to Coach Dee Portal who developed Martinez into a National Collegiate Athletic association champ and Scheberies into runner-up for the college crown.

Another one of Portal's proteges, Chuck Adkins, won the NCAA 139 lb. title this year, with Don Camp being edged out in the finals of the 125 lb. class.

All four of these boxers might qualify for the Olympic squad this year. It would certainly throw the spotlight on Coach Portal if that many Raider boxers could make the United States squad.

San Jose's distinguished mentor is in his 15th season as head mentor here. He has developed boxing at Sparta to the point where it has become a major sport. This year the locals took fourth in the nationals.

INDEPENDENT COACH RESIGNS

I was very sorry to see that Scotty McDonald has resigned as head basketball coach at Loyola university. He is a top cage mentor and was sincerely in favor of an independent conference composed of such schools as San Jose State, University of San Francisco, St. Mary's, Santa Clara, College of Pacific, Loyola, Nevada, San Francisco State and Fresno State.

If a few other coaches had done something about such a league, instead of talking about it casually, there might have been an independent basketball loop in this area next season.

As far as San Jose is concerned, it appears that it may be doomed in the athletic future, so maybe it is better the Spartans did not plan on joining such a league. In two weeks Sparta may become an official member of a proposed California College Conference, for state and small colleges, and we'll be back in the middle of a glorified CCAA.

Spartan Tracksters Vie With Potent NTC Squad

By BILL TUNNELL

Weather permitting, the Spartan track squad will go after their fourth win of the season against the San Diego Naval Training center tomorrow at Spartan field. Field events will start at 1:30 p.m. with the running races getting underway at 2 o'clock.

The Navy squad, rated stronger than the Olympic club by Coach Bud Winter, and on a par with the potent Stanford crew which wrecked the local tracksters 89-42 this season, is led by a host of ex-high school stars from Jefferson high school in Los Angeles.

Floyd Dennis, who ramblled the century event in 9.8 while attending Jefferson last year, leads a crop of swift dash men for the Navy crew.

NTC showed the depth of a major college track team by completely dominating its meet with Los Angeles State Saturday, beating the Diablos 114-17. They also hold wins over University of Arizona, Arizona State at Tempe and San Diego State.

Odds for the Spartan's chances of taking the meet were lessened considerably in Wednesday's practice when Paul

Dennis, sprinting in for the finish of a 352-yard dash, re-injured the leg muscle which has been plaguing him all season.

Dennis was slated to be the top hurdler of Coach Winter's team this year after compiling a topamination showed he may be out for a month. This injury may hinder his chances in competing for an Olympic berth in the 400-meter hurdles.

With Dennis and Don Gillespie both out of the hurdles, the Navy, with three top-flight hurdlers, will probably sweep these events.

Kenny Doler, who pulled a leg muscle running the century against Stanford, was the one bright spot in the week's workout. Doler went through a stiff workout Wednesday and will be back in the sprints tomorrow.

It is still doubtful whether the flu-bitten Ivan Summers will be ready to run the sprints. Summers was clocked in 21.7 for the 220 against the Olympic club which rated him high on the list of the nation's sprinters.

Walt Burnett, still rated the number one 440 man in the nation with a 48.3 clocking, and Owen Moore, number four with a 48.5, will both go in the quarter mile in an effort to equalize the lost hurdle points. Both men will run legs on the relay.

"My big concern was whether to run Burnett in the sprints to help pick up points or in his specialty the quarter," said Winter. "But he does have the best time in the country for the quarter and it is only fair that I should let him defend that mark."

Dick Stults will carry the hopes of the Gold and White team in the shot put. Stults' best mark at the start of the season was 46' 7" to which he added over a foot when he hit 48' 1" against Stanford. He had a toss of 50' in the Cal Poly-COP triangular but fouled on the throw.

LYNN GREENE, top Naval Training center weightman, can be seen in action against his old teammates, the Spartans, in Saturday's meet. Greene competed for the locals in '50.

Undefeated Stanford, Spartan Golfers Clash

Unbeaten in three matches so far this season, the Spartan golfers take on a powerful contingent when they meet Stanford university this afternoon on the San Jose country club course. Play starts at 1 o'clock.

The Indians also are undefeated this season and are the winners of the Northern California Inter-collegiate golf tournament. The Spartans were runnersup to the titlists in the NCL.

Stanford's last match was against the University of California whom they defeated 18½ to 8½ on the Indian course last Saturday. Dick McElyea and Art Schroeder who posted 71s against the Bears will lead their team against the Golden Raiders today.

The Spartan golfers have defeated Camp Pendleton, Cal Poly and Modesto in a triangular affair and Santa Clara.

California State Amateur Champion Ken Venturi will lead the Spartan team today against its talented opponent. He will be assisted by Bill King, Henry Solario, Stan Gum, Gordy Williams, Wally Regan and Gene Broderick.

Perry Establishes One Mural League

Intramural Sports Director Bill Perry announced yesterday that there will be only one softball league this year and it will be composed of 17 teams. Theta Xi fraternity has dropped out of competition leaving 12 fraternities and five independents.

Two standings will be maintained in the Spartan Daily. They will be intramural and inter-fraternity standings.

Perry also said entry fees must be in by 3 p.m. today, and schedules can be picked up in the Men's gym after noon today.

Spring Football

Spring football practice opens Monday at Spartan stadium with approximately 75 gridders out for the sessions. Monday's Spartan Daily sport page will feature an extensive roundup concerning the football drills.

Netmen Play Hosts To San Francisco

The Golden Raider tennis team will play host to a visiting University of San Francisco squad here today on the local courts.

San Jose's contingent, led by Butch Krikorian, is eager to dump the highly rated Don team as they are still fuming over their 9-0 loss to the University of California last Saturday afternoon at Berkeley.

Two other top netmen who will be aiding Krikorian today are Don Gale and Bob Phelps.

Swim Meet Here

Fresh from having taken a decisive victory in the California State College Swimming tournament, the Spartan swimmers host the Cal Aggies tonight at 8 o'clock in the Spartan pool.

Air Line Officials Seek Potential Stewardesses

American Airlines will have representatives in the Placement office today from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. to interview prospective stewardesses, according to Dr. Vernon A. Ouellette, director of business placement.

College graduates are especially wanted by the company. Applicants should be single, 21 to 28 years old, 5'2" to 5'7" in height, under 130 pounds in weight, and have at least 20-50 vision.

The training will be at company expense and will be followed by a starting salary of $185 a month, according to information received by Dr. Ouellette.

Other air lines also want stewardesses and Dr. Ouellette has information available for interested women students in the Placement office.

June graduates interested in the Emporium's merchandising training program will be interviewed today from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Placement office.

The Emporium, a department store located in San Francisco, offers a training program of a year and a half which will lead to position as an assistant buyer or a department head.

United Air Lines will interview June graduates who want positions as aeronautical, aircraft, electrical or mechanical engineers today from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Accepted applicants will work at United's maintenance base at the San Francisco Municipal airport.

Interviews for a sales manager training program offered by the Provident Mutual Life Insurance company will also be held today from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Placement office.

Sales managers will supervise life insurance salesmen and won't have to do the actual selling, says Dr. Ouellette.

Nature School Anticipates 300 Student Signup

Summer session West Coast Nature school signs-up open Apr. 15 in Room S100, according to Dr. Gertrude Cavins, registrar for the event.

The session will consist of three weeks of study in three areas. Students may attend any one or all of the programs which will be held at Yosemite, Fallen Leaf lake near Tahoe and Asilomar on the Monterey peninsula.

College credit is given for participation in the school, Dr. Cavins mentioned, and about 300 students are expected to enroll. "More than 200 inquiries already have been received," she added.

The first session starts June 15 at Yosemite; the second at Fallen Leaf lake, opens June 22; and the Asilomar meeting begins June 29.

Instructors for the program will be: at Yosemite, Dr. Robert Rhodes, trees; Dr. Matthew Vessel, birds; Dr. Carl Duncan, insects; Dr. Carl Sharnsmith, wild flowers; Dr. Wayne Kartchner, geology; Dr. Arnold Applegarth, mammals.

The staff at Fallen Leaf lake will consist of: Dr. P. Victor Peterson, trees; Dr. Applegarth, birds; Dr. Duncan, insects; Dr. Rhodes, wild flowers; and Dr. Alexander McCallum, geology.

The Asilomar staff will be: Dr. Peterson, trees; Miss Emily Smith, birds; Dr. Duncan, insects; Dr. Rhodes, wild flowers; Dr. McCallum, physiography (study of land forms and formations) and Dr. James Heath, sea-shore life.

English Club Plans Readings For Tuesday

The English club will meet Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the Student Union, according to information received from the English department.

Included in the two hour program will be a talk by Dr. Harold Miller on the requirements for a master's degree in English; Ernest Hemingway's narrative - dialogue "The Killers" by Dr. Richard Tansy, Dr. Wesley Goddard and Mr. Fred Brown; a short story reading by Dr. Dorothy Kaucher and a discussion of Walt Whitman's poetry by Dr. Esther Shephard.

Copies of Whitman's poems may be obtained at the English office.

Spears To Hold Rummage Sale

Spartan Spears, sophomore women's honorary society, will hold a rummage sale Tuesday from 7:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. in front of Morris Dailey auditorium, Miss Marilyn Lund, historian for the society, announced yesterday.

All proceeds from the sale will go to Camp Minniwanca, Miss Lund said.

Bibliophiles Elects Spring Officers

Martha Benson is the new president of the Bibliophiles, a club for library majors and minors.

Other officers elected at the first meeting of the quarter recently are: Lorraine Miranda, vice president; Thoralee Griffin, secretary; Doris Gourley, treasurer; and Denise Keil, historian.

The club's first social event was held Tuesday night when eleven members and their adviser, Miss Dora Smith, were guests of the Storytelling club of Palo Alto.

Enlarged Board Hears First Master's Degree Oral Exam

Final oral examinations for master's degrees, which were formerly given before a student advisory board of three members, have now been altered to include all department faculty, graduate students and interested persons, according to Dr. C. W. Telford, head of the Psychology department.

In keeping with this policy, members of the Psychology department heard the first report of the quarter which was presented by Leslie M. Patterson, graduate psychology student, last Monday.

"Patterson related his findings in a survey on the effect of counseling on the counselor and drew the conclusion that there is some personality improvement in a counselee as well as in the counselee," said Dr. Telford.

"Students investigated were from the Practice in Counseling 165A and B courses. Patterson took his tests before and after they had their first quarter of experience," Dr. Telford explained.

Misspelling Is 'Spartin' Habit

Spelling of the word "Spartan" by loyal "Spartans" on this campus should cause any serious minded "Spartin" to demand a course in spelling of the word "Spar-Ten" for misled "Spartans."

This sounds rather ridiculous, but it is indicative of the way college students spell the word, according to Mrs. Frances Sidens, secretary in the Graduate Manager's office, who handles the checks made out to the Spartan (that's right, S-P-A-R-T-A-N) shop.

"Nine out of ten students misspell 'Spartan' on checks," Mrs. Sidens said. "The most common error is 'Sparton'."

One student with a flair for the ecclesiastical wrote "Spartan Shoppe."

"Of course, I realize how few chances the average college student gets to see the 'Spartan' spelled correctly," she said.
